

Purpose and substance	Yes
The question is vetted properly . (It's anonymous; spelling, grammar and categorisation are correct; the main question and final question match.)
This is a question LawSpot should answer (not from a landlord or business person, not about real property, not offensive).
I have checked whether I can give info only (on wills, estates, powers of attorney, relationship property).
I have checked the web for existing answers , including on communitylaw.org.nz , and have avoided duplication.
I have answered all elements of the question.
All links work, all links are to reputable sources, and all links begin with http.
I have avoided mentioning statutes or cases if I can.
My explanatory note gives the reviewer the appropriate level of confidence in my answer and the links to check it.

Structure and language	Yes
I have thought about my audience .
I have answered the question in the first sentence .
I have included content that supports my answer.
I have provided advice for next steps (including helpful links).
I have used an inverted pyramid structure .
I have written sentences of 20 words or less .
I have used precise, familiar words .
I have defined any necessary legal terms .
I have ensured that NZ spelling and grammar is correct.
